Commissioner Mark Williams called to order the meeting to discuss the 2022 Weekend for Wildlife. The committee members discussed the proposals set forth by GNR Executive Director Lyndy Saporow.

First, the members of the planning committee discussed the theme and design for WFW. The theme is “Good Migrations” with a manatee as the logo.

Next, the committee discussed the event brochures and changes that are being made to the agenda. There was discussion about the sequence of Friday night’s events.

Thirdly, the committee discussed the potential trips that would be offered at the 2022 event. Rick Lavender presented the trip options. Sara Clark asked about a few trips that had been offered in the past, and Rick explained why they were off the table for this year’s event. During this conversation, Rob Leebern discussed the possibility of including a program for the children in attendance. It was determined that we could provide educational materials to those children that attend.

Finally, the committee discussed our 2022 sponsorship campaign and our plan for raising money for the event.
